It is seldom that the interest in molemonstrated at the Breed theater las evening, when the monster reel entitled. The Pay Car was thrown upon the screen. Besides this great picture is the depicting of the famous novel of Victor Hugo's entitled. The Galle Slave. This picture is a wonder in its way, as it carries the spectator from room to room, in the interior scenes without the usual closing of the camera, creating the effect that one was directly in place of the operator and carrying of the house atmosphere perfectly. The his real of comedy is a fectly. The big reel of comedy is a great novelty, the scenic appointments being perfect. Miss Edith Darnell, the lyric soprano of the Breed, sings with much sweetness the pretty illustrated song Garden of Dreams.

—Harper's Weekly. What are a father's rights !- Ladies

Dear Mr. Bok: It's kind of you To ask the question that you do. It gives me courage to declare My independence. Here I swear (Whatever other rights I've lost, However sadiy I am bossed). By all the seventy gods of Babel. I will not clean the kitchen table:

Gent-Why the delay? Applicant-He's in the hospital.—Cassall's Satur-day Journal. "Has that fellow Pinkley returned home yet?" "Nope. effe's been gone two years now, and nobody knows a blessed thing about him." "Well, darned if I shouldn't think you'd be afraid he'd come home some day an' claim he found the South Pels."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
